

LAND DIVISION

FY 1999, 2000, 2001

Dean Uchida, Administrator

ROLE AND ORGANIZATION

The Land Division provides for the planning, management and development of public lands and water resources. Three major functional areas comprise the Division: public lands management, Conservation District regulation and engineering services. The Division manages approximately 1.3 million acres of public lands, regulates and enforces land use laws of the Conservation District, provides engineering services department-wide and develops water resources for State projects.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

As the largest landowner, the State of Hawai'i owns approximately 1.5 million acres of lands throughout the state, in addition to all of the beaches and submerged lands in the archipelago. The Land Division leases over 230,000 acres of public lands and administers about 950 general leases and 500 revocable permits for agricultural, pastoral, commercial, industrial, resort, residential, telecommunication and other uses. The Land Division administers millions of dollars in Capital Improvement Projects (CIP) for the Department. The Land Division offices on O'ahu, Kaua'i, Maui, and Hawai'i employ 81 individuals.

PUBLIC LANDS MANAGEMENT

The Land Division manages approximately 1.3 million acres of public lands throughout the State, in addition to beaches and submerged lands. The Division's mission is to ensure the effective and efficient use of public lands in ways that fulfill the Public Land Trust obligations and promote the sustained social, environmental and economical well-being of Hawai'i's people. The large majority of these lands comprise the Public Land Trust (commonly referred to as "ceded" lands). Use of trust lands are guided by the five purposes as defined in the Admission Act: for the support of the public schools and other public educational institutions, for the betterment of the conditions of native Hawaiians, for the development of farm and home ownership, for the making of public improvements and for the provision of lands for public use.

In fulfillment of this mission, the Division plans for the use and development of public lands, leases land for a variety of uses, grants easements, sets aside land for government uses, conveys land in fee, issues month-to-month revocable permits and rights-of-entry, maintains unencumbered lands and also makes the decision to keep land as open space area.

- Land Division manages 1.3 million acres.
- Leases over 230,000 acres of public lands
- Administers approximately 950 general leases, 500 revocable permits.
- 16,000 land parcel records were verified manually and transferred to a new electronic system.

Prior to computerization, the Land Division filed its documents in the manner shown on the left, which depended heavily on manual systems.

Where privately-owned lands or lands owned by other government entities are required by the State for public purposes, the Division is responsible for acquiring these lands through negotiations, donations, condemnations or land exchanges. In addition to maintaining an inventory of all public lands, the Division serves as an office of record and maintains a central repository of government land documents dating back to the Great Māhele in 1848.

The budget of the Land Division this fiscal year (2001-2002) is $5.6 million. The Land Division offices on Oʻahu, Kauaʻi, Maui, and Hawaiʻi employ 38 individuals to manage our public lands.

The Land Division's new computerized system has streamlined information management in the Division.

HIGHLIGHTS

The most significant change in the Land Division occurred as a result of a 1996 Legislative Auditor's follow-up audit that was critical of the Division's lease administration practices. The Legislative Auditor found that the weaknesses in the administration of land leases resulted from a lack of formal policies and procedures, inadequate internal control practices, and poor records management.

In response, the Land Division initiated a $2 million re-engineering project to streamline and improve land management functions, utilizing the latest technology, resulting in a complete overhaul of the way the Division manages public lands. The Division focused on utilizing current technology to improve the way the Division operates and improving fundamental management practices.

In October 1998, the Department contracted with KPMG LLP, a management consulting firm, to conduct the first phase of the project encompassing the re-engineering of the Land Division's existing work processes and defining system requirements for the integrated State Land Information Management System (SLIMS). Upon completion of this phase, the Division issued a request for proposal in April 1999 and contracted with Yardi Systems, Inc., an industry leader in property management software. Beginning in April 2000, the Division began the laborious process of data conversion, encoding the information maintained manually in lease files and other fragmented systems into SLIMS. Over a period of five months, the Division converted land parcel records from the old State Land Inventory (SLI) system and from county tax office records and converted lease and permit information from the lease files. Staff spent 2,700 hours verifying 16,000 SLI land parcel records, including researching discrepancies between the SLI and tax office data, to ensure current tax map key numbers. In addition, staff spent 2,200 hours manually converting 1,500 lease files into the new SLIMS.

SLIMS integrates the land inventory, property management and accounts receivable functions of land management and "went live" in 2001. For the first time in the history of managing government lands in Hawai'i, land managers are able to sit at their desks and retrieve land and lease information to carry out their responsibilities.

Accompanying the development of SLIMS was the Land Division's initiatives to improve overall records management, including reorganizing over 1,500 lease files into a three-part system for easier reference, eliminating a backlog of unfiled documents, developing summary sheets and checklists to ensure files are complete and organized correctly, and implementing a Division-wide system to track pending land disposition requests.

Another major component of the Land Division's re-engineering efforts was the development of a procedures manual to improve internal controls, streamline work processes and ensure compliance with laws and policies. Template forms and letters were created for each of the procedural steps. The procedures manual as well as the templates are accessible on the Division's computer network.

During the period 1998-2001, some lease rents were re-negotiated. Revenues rose slightly from $12,958,431 to $14,218,088. The transfer of properties to the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands resulted in less revenues to the Land Division as much of the land transferred was revenue producing.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS, FY 1999

- Issued 18 revocable permits and 19 general leases statewide.
- Executed 18 sales in fee and completed seven acquisitions.

- Issued 37 easements.
- Executed 22 cancellations and withdrawals of set-asides to governmental agencies.
- Executed 18 set-asides to government agencies for public purposes, including:
 - -Set aside eight acres to the Division of State Parks for Kahana Bay Beach Park.
 - Set aside 50 acres to the Department of Education for King Kekaulike High School.
 - -Set aside five acres to the County of Hawai'i for public safety site.
 - -Set aside 36 acres to the University of Hawai'i for U.S.-China educational center, general university, student housing and campus-related commercial purposes.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS, FY 2000

- Issued 39 revocable permits and 22 general leases statewide.
- Executed 25 sales in fee and completed three acquisitions.
- Issued 16 easements.
- Made 11 cancellations and withdrawals of set-asides to governmental agencies.
- Made 32 set asides to government agencies for public purposes, including:
 - Set aside 20 acres to the County of Hawai'i
 - Department of Parks and Recreation, for Lili'uokalani Gardens.
 - Set aside of 11 of 24 sites to the University of Hawai'i to provide the UH with greater autonomy in its operation of the university's assets.

-Set aside three acres to the Department of Health for a community mental health facility.

- Set aside of ten acres to the Department of Agriculture for an agricultural park.
- Conveyed 93% of the parcels authorized for transfer to the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands (DHHL). At the October 28, 1994 meeting, the Board of Land and Natural Resources approved the conveyance of 16,518 acres of State land to the DHHL to make up the shortfall between the 203,000 acres designated for DHHL's use by the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act of 1921 and its inventory then of 186,982 acres, as verified by a Governor's Task Force formed in 1990 on DHHL Land and Title Claims.

■ Auctioned five land licenses at Mana, Kaua'i, in February 2000 allowing for the removal of more than 100,000 cubic yards of sand from an inland deposit. As a result, the department will receive approximately $600,000 in royalty and premium payments over the next two years. As an additional benefit to Hawai'i's taxpayers, the removal of the material will be managed by departmental personnel in such a way so that once the sand is taken, the Department's Division of Forestry and Wildlife will have had created, for no extra charge, a 17-acre addition to its highly successful Kawaiie Wetland Bird Sanctuary. This innovative approach resulted in an estimated additional benefit of $100,000 - $200,000 in avoided excavation costs.

■ Completed conveyance of ten of the 12 community hospital sites to the Hawai'i Health Systems Corporation (HHSC) to provide HHSC with greater autonomy in its operation of the hospitals.

■ Commissioned an infrastructure study for the Kekaha Sugar plantation. Faced with the pending closure of AMFAC sugar operations on Kauaʻi, the Land Division took a pro-active approach to accepting the return of approximately 20,000 acres of state land by commissioning Bow Engineering & Development, Inc. to do a comprehensive report entitled the Kekaha Sugar Infrastructure Study. This study provided state land managers with an inside look at the region's domestic and irrigation water systems, the all important regional drainage system, electrical networks, including operational guidelines for two hydroelectric plants, described the extensive service road network and its maintenance requirements among other data. This report has become a nuts and bolts operations manual that will guide the future management of property that has been described to be among the state's most productive agricultural lands.

PLANNING BRANCH

The Planning Branch's mandate is to regulate and enforce land use laws within the State Land Use Conservation District to ensure the protection of natural resources. The Conservation District includes almost half of the State's total land area, as well as all nearshore waters classified as submerged State land. Both public and private lands may be classified as conservation lands. The Planning Branch is responsible for acting as the land use authority for proposed and ongoing activities on both public and private lands classified as conservation. To accomplish this task, the Planning Branch coordinates the actions of the many agencies within the Department of Land and Natural Resources to regulate activities on Conservation District lands.

The Planning Branch regulates and enforces land use laws in the State Land Use Conservation District, pursuant to Chapter 183C and 190D, Hawaiʻi Revised Statutes and Title 13, Chapter 5, Hawaiʻi Administrative Rules. The intent of these regulations is to promote the long-term sustainability of state lands and natural resources as well as the health, safety and welfare of Hawaiʻi residents.

Towards this end, the Planning Branch processes Conservation District Use Applications and site plan approvals, makes statutory and rule amendments to conservation district laws, conducts contested case hearings, provides department-wide review of proposed activities affecting natural resources, investigates and prosecutes illegal land use activities on conservation lands, engages in special projects such as flood mitigation planning, coastal lands management, and administers the Soil and Water Conservation District program.

Between 1998 to 2001, the Planning Branch handled some cases involving the building of additional scientific structures on volcano summits, grounds that Native Hawaiians believe have significant cultural value. Other Hawai'i conservation issues and conflicts have included Acoustic Thermometry of Ocean Climate (ATOC) testing in island waters, power line development on Wa'ahila Ridge, and construction of a major City and County visitor center at Hanauma Bay.

Under the direction and supervision of the Land Division administration, the Planning Branch also develops departmental policy regarding the State of Hawai'i's resources. For example, the Planning Branch recently developed the Hawai'i Coastal Erosion Management Plan. This plan is intended to guide both governmental and non-governmental stakeholders in making decisions on managing the State's coastal lands.

The Planning Branch works with federal, county and other state agencies. The Land Division articulates the DLNR's position on possible environmental impacts of proposed projects and actions by federal, county and other state agencies on conservation district lands.

The Coastal Lands Program (CLP), within the Planning Branch, develops new policies and directions to improve the management of the state's coastline and beach erosion problems. This program conducts environmental, economic and engineering studies of Hawai'i's precious shoreline areas. The CLP acts as the lead state agency in the development and implementation of shoreline restoration and protection projects. For construction or other impacts on ocean and coastal areas, the CLP provides recommendations to the respective district branches on the proper land disposition of existing and proposed coastal structures, such as seawalls, filled areas, breakwaters, marinas and other coastal structures.

The CLP is responsible for developing alternatives to shoreline hardening, such as beach restoration, as well as working closely with other state, federal and county agencies to develop appropriate guidelines and standards for coastal development in order to avoid erosion hazards and protect beaches. The CLP is also responsible for administering the Beach Restoration Fund, established by Act 84, which may be used to support beach restoration efforts statewide.

The Coastal Lands Program recognized that several beach areas throughout Hawai'i were rapidly losing sand. Sand replacement was planned for beaches on Kaua'i at Waimea, Kikiaola, Poipu, and Brennecke's Beach; on O'ahu at Mauna Lahilahi, Makaha Surfside, Waikiki Beach, Lanikai Beach, Makaha Beach, Ka'a'awa, Punalu'u, Hau'ula; and on Maui at Sprecklesville, Ma'alaea, Honokowai, Kihei, and Launiupoko beaches.

ENGINEERING BRANCH

The Engineering Branch oversees programs which impact water and land development. The water and land development program promotes economic development and public welfare by developing water supplies, which in turn supports the projects of other state agencies. This program also promotes partnerships and cost sharing in the development of water projects to meet the goals of otherwise competing agencies. The prevention of natural disasters program, which consists of the flood control and dam safety programs, works to minimize the loss of lives and property damage through the management of flood hazard areas and regulation of dams and reservoirs. The branch also provides engineering services to other divisions and agencies.

The Engineering Branch also handles the National Flood Insurance Program which oversees the four counties to comply with the requirements of the national flood insurance program. This allows for low cost flood insurance to be sold in the State of Hawai'i. Without this oversight there would not be any low cost flood insurance.

HIGHLIGHTS

The Engineering Branch of the Land Division undertook several significant projects. In 1999, the Engineering Branch completed removal of Underground Fuel Storage Tanks at several DLNR facilities to comply with Federal regulations. The branch also completed the construction of a new 1.0 million-gallon storage reservoir to serve the Keahole Airport.

In 2000, the environmental assessment for the dredging of Ala Wai Canal was completed and the project was advertised for bids. This project will remove sediment accumulation and improve hydraulic capacity and water clarity in 2002. In the same year, the Engineering Branch also:
